System Analysis and Design - Tutorial

Introduction to SAD

Look in the websites or newspapers that contain recruitment advertisements (e.g.: www.topjobs.lk, www.careerfirst.lk, www.observerjobs.lk, Sunday observer).

1. Make a list of the different kinds of job opportunities available for people who want analyst positions. Compare and contrast the skills that the ads solicit with the skills that were discussed in the lecture.

2. Consider that your organization is willing to hire a new systems analyst for the new project received for developing a Procurement and production management information system for a large-scale garment manufacturing company. What requirements would the job have? What skills and experience would be required? Write a newspaper ad to hire someone for that position.